

Announcement of the
J. Fielding Reed Scholarship
&
Jimmy and Bunny Champion Academic Achievement Award
Presented by The Georgia Plant Food Educational Society (GPFES)

Scholarships ($2000) and Award ($3000) to be awarded to an undergraduate student in soil and plant science or related field of study. Scholarships and Award are made directly to the student and are independent of any other assistantships, scholarships or awards to the student.

Eligibility requires that the student is attending a degree-granting institution in Georgia. Priority will be given to the relevance to GPFES educational objectives and includes the disciplines of agronomy, horticulture, ecology, soil fertility, soil chemistry, plant physiology, and other areas related to soil fertility and plant nutrition.

Application forms are available from the president of GPFES: Mr. Jimmy Champion, 1017 Pearson Road, Sylvester, GA 31791 Phone: (229) 881-0254 Fax: (229) 776-0328 jpchampion3@bellsouth.net or from the GPFES website at www.georgiaplantfood.org

A complete Application Packet should include the completed application form, transcripts of all college courses (including cumulative GPA), and three letters of support, of which one must be from the applicant's advising professor. Submit all documents, transcript, and support letters in one packet by Oct. 1 of the current calendar year to the address provided on the application form.

Important: The description of the applicant's academic interest and agricultural experiences provided on the application form provides GPFES with an evaluation of the applicant's relationship to Georgia agriculture and the applicant's expectations and plans for the future.

Scholarship and Award winners will be notified and the checks will be presented by the GPFES.

All winners are highly encouraged to attend the GPFES Annual Winter Meeting Lunch in January to be recognized by the GPFES membership.

Scholarships are provided by the GPFES in honor of Dr. J. Fielding Reed (deceased in 1999), who retired as President of the Potash & Phosphate Institute, served as Professor and teacher at the University of Georgia, President of GPFES and Mentor to many of the members of the GPFES.

The Academic Achievement Award is provided by the GPFES in honor of Jimmy and Jacqueline "Bunny" Champion for their outstanding and long-term service to GPFES. Bunny Champion passed away in 2008 and Jimmy Champion is the current president of GPFES. This award will be given to the applicant deemed most outstanding from the total pool of applications.

* * * * *

The purposes of the GPFES are to keep its members informed, promote agricultural education programs, cooperate with all agricultural agencies including the University of Georgia, and to promote agronomically and environmentally sound use of plant food by farmers.